Elwyn's appreciation and passion for quality is evident in all his work. His skills with statistics, explaining and interpreting data are fantastic. Not only does Elwyn understand statistical analysis on another level he also takes the time to teach his colleagues and bring them on the journey too. On a personal level Elwyn is the consummate gentleman, a respectful and well-liked member of the team

Ivan Perez Chamorro

CEO at MedBoard - Medical Devices Intelligence Platform & More

May 17, 2020, Ivan worked with Elwyn but at different companies

Elwyn has a great passion for quality and statistical processes, that combined with his many years of experience makes him a very top level quality professional, with very solid quality principles and practical approach. In addition, his level of detail and methodical approach with tools allows teams to obtain very good data and insights for development and improvements

Clare Holt

Quality Manager at Inotec AMD Ltd

July 1, 2020, Clare managed Elwyn directly

Elwyn is an excellent person to work with, he is logical and relentless in the search for a logical data driven answer. I would recommend Elwyn in an instant to anyone who wanted a clear thinking, data driven, individual who is capable of analysing a problem and reaching a statically valid conclusion. I would also recommend any of his training courses, they have been beyond benefit to myself and my team.

Kelly Reah

Senior Quality Assurance Associate at Inotec AMD

Leicester, Leicestershire, United Kingdom

I have had the pleasure of working with Elwyn within the medical devices sector. He has a wealth of knowledge on statistical analysis, PFMEA, Process Mapping, Quality Management Systems and Engineering. As such it has been an eye opening and invaluable experience for the whole team. I believe he is an asset and contributor to any quality team

Philip Gravelle

Consultant at Gwalia Life Science Consulting Ltd

In my time collaborating with Elwyn, he showed a remarkable knowledge of the correct application of Statistical Process Control. His eye for detail enabled us to garner significantly greater information from process data and this facilitated improvements in control and yield. His background as a Chartered Quality Engineer was very evident. Furthermore, he was also humble enough to help out with more mundane tasks when the urgency on the project demanded. This was greatly appreciated.

Elwyn impresses, with his direct, practical approach to QA he is capable of communication with and earning respect from both management and shop floor. Constantly he surprised me with practical instructions for the machine operators. Thorough analysis towards suppliers and a true professional in discussions with customers. He singlehanded found ways to significantly reduce scrap an optimize production runs. With a clear understanding between motivating and activating.

Ian Potter

Contract Quality Engineer at HP Chemie Pelzer (Retired)

November 9, 2017, Ian reported directly to Elwyn

Elwyn was my Manager for some months during 2013.

I can say with honesty that he was one of the most respected and approachable Managers I have had the good fortune to meet.

He was certainly the most academically qualified of any having attained all four of the Qualifications in the American Society for Quality and one of only a few to accomplish this.

Elwyn leads by example and was supportive to me throughout our working relationship. Listening was a strength reinforced by tolerance.

He exudes a professional demeanour, is assertive but not aggressive and appears to command respect with little effort. His depth of knowledge on multiple Quality Tools and techniques is admirable. We have worked well together to resolve technical issues establishing Root Causes and implementing Containment and Corrective actions. Elwyn is a Quality Professional and extremely competent and capable at the highest levels.

I firmly believe that he would be an asset to any company and would in my opinion be part of the "intellectual capital ". He is also quite a modest man which is an endearing aspect of his character

Prem Murgiah

An incredibly intellectual individual, he has trained me in various Quality Systems and Techniques, just to name a few

Quality Management System

Basic to Advanced Quality Statistical Techniques

QS900, APQP and PPAP

Core Tools

I have been trained and mentored by Elwyn approximately 16 Year ago and I am still inspired by his passion for the subject matter and his determination to get businesses to realise the untapped potential that exist within an organization through the use of effective Quality Management System and Techniques.

Graeme Winton

Programme Manager

I worked with Elwyn at BT Cellnet at the start of its transformation into O2 UK and in most need of innovative problem-solving and a structured quality approach. Elwyn is a thought-leader in his field who is an impressive advocate of quality techniques. In my experience he has a unique ability to convey the full life cycle quality approach in a way that inspires middle and senior management and speaks to them in terms of compelling cost-benefits. At a personal level he is an open, supportive professional that I found a real pleasure to work with. Inspiring subject-matter expert on quality management and a supportive colleague through the difficult times. A real pleasure to work with.

David Wilkinson

Business Process Architect

Elwyn Lewis is a meticulous person who has thorough, in depth, knowledge of Quality management, both from an operational and system perspective. Enjoyed working with Elwyn.

Mike Bosse

Regional Sales Manager at Smiths Manufacturing (Pty) Ltd October 24,

2011, Mike worked with Elwyn in different groups

I worked with Elwyn when he was both Quality Engineering Manager and Project Timing Manager. I found him to be innovative and effective, in particular the project management system which he established for the launch of new products proved to be successful. I would recommend Elwyn as a key member in any effective team.

Tony Hargraves FAPM, FCMI, CMgr, CITP, MBCS

February 26, 2010, Tony managed Elwyn directly

Elwyn worked for me at BT Cellnet and proved to have an excellent grasp of quality management and its impacts and benefits on the business. His diligence, knowledge, expertise and professionalism enables me to have no hesitation in recommending him for roles in this domain.

Martyn Leese

Business Owner at Various small businesses

February 11, 2010, Martyn managed Elwyn directly

Elwyn reported to me in my role as Chief Operating Officer for Pearson Assessments and Testing International. The group consisted of a number of large business units all of which had their own/varied quality systems. Elwyn worked to unify those systems, make them more robust, filling gaps where they existed working with co-workers and customers at the highest levels.

Rick Suverkrop

Director at Active Leadership

January 27, 2010, Elwyn worked with Rick in the same group

Elwyn's involvement during his period at T&N was in the main, within the Hightech Heat Exchanger/Radiator division. As a Tier 1 supplier to OEMs both locally, in South Africa, and internationally. Elwyn's responsibility, through the team reporting to him, was to install and maintain systems to satisfy the appropriate audits and accreditations as specified by the range of customers. Further Elwyn used his practical experience, in particular with regard to Statistical Techniques, Problem-Solving techniques and Reliability Engineering, to achieve significant improvements, which contributed very clearly to overall company performance.

During Elwyn's time at T&N, I was responsible for turn-around projects within the T&N group and had the occasion to have Elwyn's input on some of the projects, that I was running in other divisions of the T&N group. I found his approach to be professional at all times. His approach achieved solid buy-in from the management and operators that he was advising, and as such produced effective and robust solutions.
